Rusk Heads Delegation To Funeral

Air Force Plane Takes US Leaders To Nehru Rites

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and a delegation of U.S. officials left for India today to attend the funeral of Prime Minister Nehru.

With them on the special Air Force plane which took off at 11:40 a.m. were Y. B. Chavan, India's defense minister; Ambassador B. K. Nehru, a second cousin of the prime minister; and members of a high level Indian defense team headed by P. B. R. Rao, permanent defense secretary.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who was to have met with Chavan on Thursday, bade him goodbye at the airport. Chavan had been visiting this country and negotiating for arms aid.

In the U.S. delegation with Rusk were U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles, Asst. Secretary of State Phillips Talbot, in charge of Middle East and South Asian affairs, and Asst. Secretary of State Robert Manning, in charge of public affairs.

The plane will make a refueling stop at Torrejon, a Strategic Air Command base near Madrid, and another at Tehran before arriving at New Delhi. The trip requires about 20 hours.

Technology Threat To Farm Future

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said today the farmer and the industrial worker must stand together because both face developments in technology and automation that threaten their economic future.

"There is fear now in agriculture that the technology and mechanization which have created our food abundance will drive down prices and cause the farmer and his family to lose their farm," he said.

"There also is fear within labor that the technology and automation will take the worker's job."

But, Freeman said, there is no cause for such fear if farmers and workers stand together to support President Johnson in his effort to make industrial abundance work for the benefit of all.

The secretary made his remarks in a talk prepared for the international convention of the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers, AFL-CIO.

Freeman said these fears should not paralyze "our minds and our will so that we fail to grasp that we can be the master of abundance and not its servant."

"We should be confident not frightened; optimistic, not dependent. We ought to enjoy the pulse of excitement. We ought gladly to accept this challenge. The farmers and the workers should stand together."

Freeman said there are farm leaders who blame problems of low farm prices and incomes on labor unions. He said these leaders are wrong.

Marshall Man Killed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—William C. Hutcherson, 65, Marshall, Mo., died in a hospital here Tuesday night of injuries suffered earlier in the day in a two-car collision a mile west of Corder, Mo.

The highway patrol said a car driven by the Marshall farmer and stockman skidded into the path of a machine driven by William A. Hitt, 21, Warrensburg. Hitt was not hurt.

Party Nets $1-Million For Demos

Republican Cry Of Pressure On Federal Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats gaily chorused "Once in Love with Lyndon" as they poured an estimated million dollars into the party treasury Tuesday night and heard President Johnson stop just short of declaring what everyone knows: that he plans to be around for four more years.

Republicans were singing another tune.

They charged that career government employees had been pressured into taking part in the $100-a-ticket Democratic frolic.

The festivities were part of fund-raising efforts expected to net $3 million for the Democratic presidential campaign. Re-run of the whole show is scheduled Thursday night in New York.

Some 6,000 turned out for the star-filled "Salute to Johnson" show at the District of Columbia Armory, with 750 persons on hand for the earlier $1,000-a-plate dinner with the President.

No figures were available, but the festivities probably contributed at least the $1 million predicted in advance.

But Johnson, with tongue firmly in cheek, insisted it was not a political shindig.

"This show is open to anyone who wants to contribute $100 to the Democratic campaign," he said.

On the serious side, Johnson told the crowd, "This is a significant moment. You are gathering as one Democratic administration draws to a close—and as we prepare for another four years of Democratic leadership."

Seeks Better Break At Bar of Justice For Poor Americans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren urged today a better break for poor Americans before the bar of justice.

"We cannot give meaningful import to constitutional principles in the field of criminal law as long as the poor cannot effectively assert their rights in our courts," he said.

Keynoting the first national conference on bail and criminal justice, the chief justice said prompt steps should be taken "to alleviate the often-harsh bail requirements for indigents accused for the first time of committing misdemeanors."

Stroke Fatal To Indian Leader, 74

NEW DELHI, India—(AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, the aristocratic statesman who led India in the paths of neutralism and socialism since it became independent in 1947, died today after suffering his second stroke in less than five months. He was 74.

Home Minister G. L. Nanda, a senior Cabinet member who has a reputation for getting things done, was sworn in as acting prime minister 10 hours after Nehru's death.

Nanda was sworn in by President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan. An elderly philosopher renowned in world academic circles, Radhakrishnan was charged under the constitution to take over the government on the death of the prime minister. But Nanda was quickly chosen to handle the administrative details.

Nehru's death was attributed to a heart attack and shock.

"The prime minister is no more," Steel Minister C. Subramaniam told the sobbing Parliament. "Life is out. The light is out."

Nehru was stricken at 6:25 a.m. as he arose at his usual hour. He died at 2 p.m.—4:30 a.m. EDT, seven hours and 35 minutes later. A stroke on Jan. 7 had partially paralyzed his left side but he had recovered somewhat and in recent weeks had resumed his seat in Parliament.

His only child, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, was with him when he died. A large team of doctors was in attendance. The U.S. Embassy offered its medical staff and equipment, but an embassy spokesman said the Indian government did not request assistance.

Nehru's two sisters, Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit and Mrs. Krishna Hutheesingh, left Bombay by special plane for New Delhi.

Mrs. Pandit is governor of Maharashtra State.

Nehru's death urgently raised a question that has plagued India for years—his successor.

The strong-willed prime minister held the reins of power firmly and adamantly refused to designate a successor.

AF Surrenders ZIP Code Case, Retains Chaplain

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force surrendered today in the case of the chaplain who failed to give his superiors his ZIP Code number.

It decided the chaplain will not be discharged from the Air Force Reserve.

The Air Force disclosed its action in a letter to Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who had demanded an explanation after receiving a complaint from the chaplain.

"There is a requirement that all Air Force Reservists not on active duty respond to official correspondence," the Air Force told Hebert.

"On reviewing the facts in this case, however, it has been determined that the discharge action will not be taken."

The identity of the chaplain, a captain in the Reserve, never has been made known. The Air Force said he wanted it that way.

The chaplain, a resident of New Orleans, wrote to Hebert saying that he faced possible discharge action because he had not provided his ZIP Code number.

'Blow' to Barry By Florida GOP

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A delegate slate pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater was turned down by Republicans, and a governor sworn to erect barriers against civil rights was nominated by Democrats in Tuesday's Florida primary.

Burns won by a margin of more than 167,000 votes over Mayor Robert King High of Miami, who had promised to enforce any civil rights law enacted by Congress and signed by President Johnson.

Racial violence hit Burns' city of Jacksonville during the heated campaign, which was waged almost entirely on the rights issue.

Civil War Torpedo Finally Detonated

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A century-old experimental torpedo—nudged from its Civil War grave in the old Mississippi River channel near Vicksburg—has been detonated.

Demolition experts blasted the cigar-shaped Union navy torpedo Tuesday at Greenville Air Force Base.

The torpedo was discovered Sunday by William W. Felker of Greenville, while fishing near Vicksburg. Felker said he drove home "with the thing rolling around in the back of my car."

A. W. Banton, resident historian of the Vicksburg National Military Park, said a check with the Smithsonian Institution indicated the torpedo was the first such of Civil War vintage ever discovered.

Kansas City Okays New Junior College

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Metropolitan Kansas City voted for an area junior college but Kansas City itself turned down an $18 million public school expansion and modernization program Tuesday.

The bonds failed for the lack of a necessary two-thirds majority, the first time in 40 years Kansas City voters have failed to approve a school bond proposal. The final unofficial total was 16,733 to 14,245.

The junior college referendum, which required only a simple majority, carried 22,657-16,225. Besides the Kansas City district, it also was voted on by the suburban school districts of North Kansas City, Center, Raytown, Hickman Mills-Ruskin, Grandview, Lee's Summit and Belton.

Scrambling For Votes To Get Cloture

Senate Clearance Of Rights Bill Predicted June 10

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, indicated today he was trying to arrange a vote June 10 on the move to shut down the civil rights debate.

This would mean the filing of a cloture petition on Monday, June 8. Under the Senate rule on this debate-limiting procedure, the vote comes on the second day after the petition is presented. The petition requires 16 signatures.

Mansfield mentioned June 10 as the date he was striving for in talking to newsmen shortly before the Senate convened for its 65th day of civil rights debate.

He said he hoped the first week in June would be used for explanation of a revised civil rights bill introduced by four Senate leaders, and for speeches by Southerners explaining why they do not like the substitute.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said it would take his side 90 days to explain everything wrong with the revised measure.

Alluding to Southern charges that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy played the decisive role in writing the new bill, Ervin said, "If Congress is going to let the attorney general write legislation, we might as well adjourn."

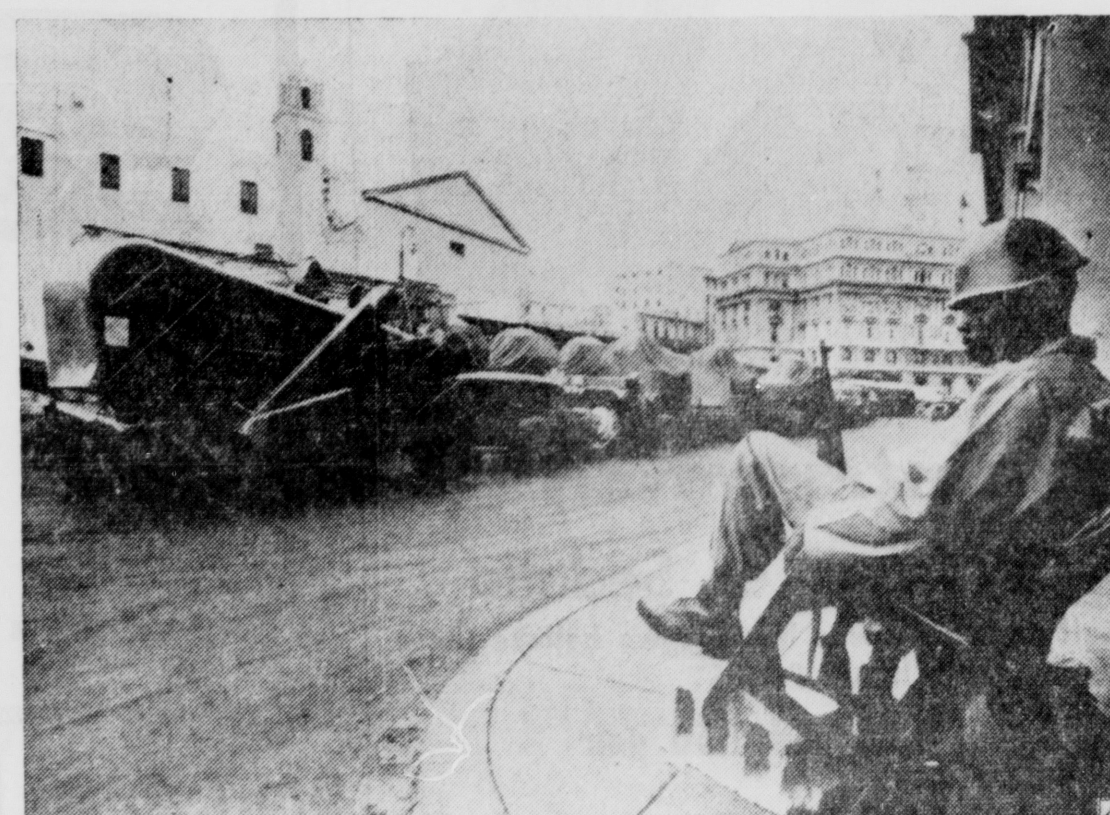

The revised bill was introduced Tuesday.

Historic Step By Big Two

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced today an historic consular treaty with the Soviet Union and termed the event "a significant step" in building understanding between the American and Soviet peoples.

The treaty, announced simultaneously in Washington and Moscow, will provide for the opening of consular offices in the two countries. It is the first treaty ever negotiated between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Johnson, citing the advantages which he expects this country to receive as a result of the agreement, said that when the treaty takes effect "Americans detained in the Soviet Union for any reasons will be assured of access without delay to American consular officials."

George Reedy, White House press secretary, was asked whether this would apply to any Americans who might be arrested on espionage charges.

"The statement says 'for any reasons,'" Reedy replied.

Johnson said the agreement, which must be ratified by the Senate before it can take effect, will be signed in Moscow on June 1.

Foy Kohler, U.S. ambassador in Moscow, will sign for the United States. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is expected to sign for Russia.

In announcing the completion of lengthy negotiations on the agreement, Johnson hailed the treaty as "a significant step in our continuing efforts to increase contacts and understanding between the American people and the peoples of the Soviet Union."

In the same vein, Johnson concluded his statement with these words:

"It is my hope that this treaty—the first bilateral treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union—will be a step forward in developing understanding between our two countries—which is so important in (Please turn to page 4, col. 6)

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

DEBT LIMIT: The House Ways and Means Committee has voiced support of an administration proposal to hike the temporary debt limit from $315 billion to $324 billion and a key Republican opponent says he plans no attempt to cut the increase on the house floor.

Following Tuesday's action, the committee's ranking Republican, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin said no attempt was made to cut the increase in the committee, and he plans none when the bill reaches the House floor next month.

"We tried that on two occasions without success," Byrnes said.

The administration proposal would establish the $324 billion level for a year starting July 1. Without new legislation, the debt limit would drop July 1 to the permanent level of $285 billion.

STASSEN: Harold E. Stassen has become the third Republican to take advantage of President Johnson's offer to give potential presidential candidates briefings on the world situation.

Stassen termed helpful Tuesday's session at which Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance participated.

CONSTRUCTION: The House has passed $40 to $5 a $1,599,014,500 appropriation bill to finance military construction in the year starting July 1.

Without amendment and by rollcall vote, the house approved the bill Tuesday and sent it on to the Senate.

SHIPYARDS: Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has canceled indefinitely plans to visit today the naval shipyards at Charleston, S.C., and Portsmouth, Va.

Aides cited a pile-up of work as the reason for the cancellation.

Ask UN Control For Cambodian, Viet Nam Border

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—South Viet Nam called on the U.N. Security Council today to place its border with Cambodia under United Nations control.

South Vietnamese Ambassador Vu Van Mau said he would submit concrete proposals to the council, which is debating Cambodia's charge that the United States and South Viet Nam have violated its frontier, attacked Cambodian border villages and killed civilians.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson pressed again Tuesday for a U.N. force to keep watch over the border, despite opposition from France and Cambodia.

Stevenson said he was puzzled why France had expressed opposition to putting the United Nations into the Southeast Asian picture.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant told a news conference in Ottawa he doubted the United Nations could undertake any tasks at this time in Southeast Asia.

Mrs. Saunders Is Regent

New Officers Elected
By Osage Chapter, DAR

Mrs. J. C. Saunders, 1001 South Vermont, was elected regent of Osage Chapter, DAR, May 23, at Wesley Methodist Church.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. John W. Lewis, first vice-regent; Mrs. C. Foster Scotten; second vice-regent; Mrs. A. R. Stevens, chaplain; Mrs. Robert F. Boothe, recording secretary; Mrs. J. C. Alexander, corresponding secretary; Miss Sue Heckart, treasurer; Miss Mamie McCormick, registrar; Miss Marion Keens, historian; Mrs. P. A. Sillers, librarian; Mrs. Keith Yount, parliamentarian.

New officers will be installed at the Flag Day breakfast at Bothwell Hotel June 13.

The program, "America's Songs of Patriotism," was given by Mrs. Scotten, assisted by Mrs. Jack Herndon, soloist, and Mrs. H. O. Foraker, accompanist. Program music was arranged by the late Mrs. W. P. Tucker, and she requested Mrs. Scotten give the program, with Mrs. Herndon and Mrs. Foraker assisting. They presented "Yankee Doodle," "America," "Dixie" and "America the Beautiful."

She said "Music is a universal language understood by all people. It speaks to people's hearts, no matter what the nationality or mother tongue may be."

Mrs. Scotten said, "To know the origin of familiar songs of patriotism gives a new and deeper interest and affords a better understanding of the triumphant history of the country and its hard-won liberty."

The tune, "Yankee Doodle," came to America in 1775 when the British were at war with the French and Indians and was first sung here to poke fun at the American colonial troops.

The word Yankee was derived from the Indian pronunciation of the word English. "Doodle" was an English word meaning do little or silly, and was used to insult Americans. Colonial soldiers, Mrs. Scotten said, were not angry, but enjoyed the lively tune. It was heard in American camps from morning to night.

"Yankee Doodle" was a song of fun and laughter for more than 20 years until the Revolutionary war. It then became the battle march of the Revolution and Colonialists made the British dance to its tune. It was the first national song and the only song left from the American War of Independence, Mrs. Scotten said.

"America," Mrs. Scotten told the group, does not refer to war as does the "Star Spangled Banner." The words were written in 1832 by a divinity student, Samuel Francis Smith, but it did not stir the great mass of people until the Union flag was shot down at Fort Sumpter. Then Americans everywhere came to know it. "America" has been used by more countries as a patriotic air than any song ever written.

"Dixie" was written in 1860 by Don Emmett, a northerner, for a minstrel show. It was received with enthusiasm and was whistled and sung throughout the nation. When the Civil War began, it was taken to the battlefield and soon was known as the official Confederate war song.

At the close of the war, President Abraham Lincoln had "Dixie" played by a band in Washington and commented: "We have captured the Confederate Army, we have captured the Confederate tune and both belong to us. Today there is no south or north but only the United States and all sing the song."

Katherine Lee Bates, a New England professor of English at Wellesley College, with others visited Colorado's Pike's Peak. Impressed with the panorama before her, she wrote the words of "America the Beautiful."

One hundred tunes were considered for the music. For many years it was a possible choice for a national anthem for the United States.

Mrs. Herndon led group singing.

Mrs. Ira Leiter, regent, presided. Flag rituals were led by Mrs. J. C. Saunders and one verse of the national anthem was sung.

Mrs. Lena Boothe, chaplain, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Homer Vance read an article written by John G. Tower, "Let's Stop Financing Socialism in Latin America."

Mrs. Pearl Stuart, good citizens committee chairman, reported Osage Chapter had sponsored eight good citizen girls who represented five high schools. She and her committee, Mrs. William Simms, Mrs. Jack Fowler and Mrs. Donald Leiter, visited the school assemblies and presented certificates of awards to Marilyn McCorkle, LaMonte; Jean Hedgpeth, Houstonia; Kay Carlson, Green Ridge; Carolyn Byrd, Hughesville; Janet Burford, Smkh-Cotton.

A report of the library committee was given by Miss Nell Logan.

Osage Chapter has been awarded a royal blue ribbon, one step higher than the requirement for Gold Award, for outstanding participation in conservation and civic affairs. Mrs. L. H. Hodges presented a report of the nominating committee in the absence of Mrs. Herbert Seifert.

Miss Lillian Thomson told of her recent trip to Washington, D.C., and DAR Continental Congress. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Harris.

Dessert luncheon preceded the meeting, with Mrs. P. L. Strole chairman, assisted by Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman, Mrs. A. R. Stevens, Mrs. Guss Salley, Mrs. Lucille Black, Miss Jessie Blair, Mrs. Herman Taylor and Miss Lois Kendrick. A Maypole centered each table with low bowls of pastel flowers. Miniature Maypoles were favors.

Jane Powell
In 'My Fair Lady' Role

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is the summer of "My Fair Lady" and one of the liveliest of the Eliza Doolittles will be pert Jane Powell.

The Lerner-Loewe masterpiece has been released for stock this year. Hence, a large number of summer musical theaters will be offering "MFL" to cash in on its immense popularity—and to beat the movie version, due in October.

Come August, Jane Powell will make her debut as Eliza and also inaugurate the latest addition to a growing California industry: the musical theater-in-the-round.

It started with last summer's startling success of Melodyland, near Disneyland. Now Concerts Inc., is putting on a season of musicals at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium; the Melodyland people are building a theater in San Carlos, south of San Francisco; and the San Fernando Valley will have the Valley Music Theater. Jane will play Eliza in the latter two.

"These theaters and those in the East have become a boon to us performers," she remarked over a club sandwich the other day. "We could work only in the summer and live the rest of the year on the earnings, if we wanted to."

Trouble is, twice-divorced Jane has three growing children to care for, and they grow restive when she's gone, especially in the summer. So she tries to arrange engagements close to home or in places the kids can go along.

The harvest for a week's trilling on the four-sided stage? It can be anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000. Jane holds the gross record at Melodyland and perhaps in summer musicals anywhere: $87,000 a week in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," last year's favorite on the summer circuit.

Bush charged the CCC "is becoming too much of an influence in grain marketing. It is in competition with private farmers and farm cooperatives."

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I made a big mistake and now I don't know how to get out of this terrible situation.

I'm a high school junior and I'm not beautiful but I have a nice face and a spectacular figure. Please don't think I am bragging. I've been told this by dozens of people—both boys and girls.

Well, when Tex asked me for a date I was honored. He is about the number one guy in the whole school, handsome and from a rich family. I wanted to make sure he would ask me a second time, so I let him go further than I should have.

Now all Tex wants to do is to make out. I've suggested that we double date but he always finds excuses and shows up alone. I am ashamed of myself and want him to know I made a mistake on our first date and that I am really not that kind of a girl. How can I do it?—BAD START.

Dear Start: It's awfully hard to keep 'em down on the farm, honey, after they've seen Paree. You will never persuade a fellow you aren't that kind of a girl when he has learned from experience that you are. My advice is to stop seeing Tex and chalk this mistake up to experience.

Dear Ann Landers: What's with this chain letter stuff? It used to be just a nice little good luck poem from a friend. Then it branched out—and strangers began asking you to make ten copies of some darned fool thing. Now it's "Send a fifth of Scotch—or $8 worth of trading stamps." What's more they make it sound if you will be plagued with 13 years of bad luck if you don't follow the instructions.

This past week I received a bath towel chain letter, and one requesting that I send $5 to the last name on the list. I didn't follow up with either one and my conscience is bothering me because I broke the chain.

Is this stuff on the level? Does it work? Have you ever heard of anybody who received anything from a chain letter—except a request? Thank you.—IGNORANT.

Dear Ig: Chain letters are illegal! They are also stupid because they are predicated on the theory that you can get something for nothing.

Dear Ann Landers: It seems odd to worry about someone you don't even know, but I'm concerned about that teen-age girl who wrote that she is frightened to be in the house alone.

My daughter went through the same thing. She used to worry about someone crawling in through her bedroom window at night. You have no idea how many hours I spent with that girl, trying to make her see that all the windows and screens were tightly closed and that it was impossible for anyone to get into the house.

It took me two years to get to the bottom of it. I still find it hard to believe and torturous to endure, but her step-father wouldn't leave her alone when I was at work.

My daughter is now happily married and has three lovely children. God was with us, Ann. I hope somehow He will be with the girl who wrote.—AUGUSTA, MAINE.

Dear Augusta: Experts tell us that it is often extremely difficult to ferret out the initial reason for fear.

In your daughter's case there was a direct relationship between her fear and the cause of it. In many instances there is no visible or apparent relationship, which is why professional help can be costly and time consuming—but it is well worth it?

Taking to modern travel, Candidate Trimble uses his own airplane to fly from one county to another. "This saves a great deal of time and affords me the opportunity to meet and visit said.

William J. Donohue (Houston, Tex.)

William Joseph Donohue, 81, former Sedalia, died at the St. Joseph Hospital in Houston, Tex., Monday, May 18, according to information received in Sedalia by friends. He had been in poor health for about a year.

He was born in Grafton, W. Va., Sept. 18, 1882, and came to Sedalia in 1906 and went with the Missouri Pacific Railroad, working in the local shops until 1912. He attained the position of erecting foreman at the local shops. He was transferred to Kansas City where he was promoted to general foreman, and was with the railroad there for several years. He left Kansas City for Bloomington, Ill., where he was general foreman for the Chicago and Alton Railroad. Later he moved to Houston where he was with the Southern Pacific for a short time and then moved to Ennis, Tex., as master mechanic with the Southern Pacific for about ten years. He was promoted to superintendent of the Southern Pacific at Algiers, La., where he remained for about 15 years, retiring at the age of 70. After his retirement he moved back to Houston where he has resided the past 11 years.

He was married to Miss Clara Maroney in 1909 in Sedalia, who survives, as does one son, Dr. William M. Donohue, also of Houston.

Two sons preceded him in death, John Emmett, who lost his life in the armed services during World War II, and another son, Joseph, died in Ennis, Tex., as a boy.

Also surviving are a brother, Lloyd Donohue, Washington, D. C.; a half-brother, Harry Nuzum, Grafton, W. Va.; and a half-sister, Mrs. Mildred Black, Zanesville, Ohio; and five grandchildren. His brother-in-law, John Maroney, 314 East Fifth, attended the funeral services.

Fred Harris To Oppose Wilkinson

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma Democrats Tuesday night tapped Fred Harris, a 33-year-old attorney, as their man to tackle the pride of the Republicans — ex - football coach Bud Wilkinson — for the U.S. Senate.

Harris swamped incumbent Sen. J. Howard Edmondson, whose meteoric rise in politics was cut short by sudden and overwhelming defeat.

Even more surprising was the victory of under-aged Jed Johnson over 6th District Rep. Victor Wickersham, an 18-year veteran of the lower chamber. The minimum age for a congressman is 25—and Johnson won't be that old until December.

Harris received 270,928 votes to 172,785 for Edmondson with all but a handful of the state's 3,044 precincts still out.

Johnson, who just barely won a runoff spot against Wickersham after the May 5 primary, had 42,185 votes to 40,973 for Wickersham with all precincts reported.

Harris' stunning triumph was the climax to a bitter campaign. Wilkinson, the Republican glamour candidate who turned to politics from a career as Oklahoma football coach, commented after Harris' victory that he hopes for a fall campaign based on issues rather than personalities.

Harris, a state senator and Lawton attorney, ran 5th in a field of 12 for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1962. Edmondson's defeat in the Senate race was almost as great as his victory when he was elected governor in 1958. He resigned about a week before his term was to expire to accept a two-year appointment to the Senate after the death of Robert S. Kerr.

It is the final two years of Kerr's term which is involved in the current campaign. Harris carried 74 of Oklahoma's 77 counties, missing out by only eight votes in Edmondson's home county, Muskogee, and in Cherokee and Adair counties.

Harris won the endorsement of Sen. Kerr's widow. The Kerr Senate staff formed the core of his campaign organization.

In the only other maoooooo his campaign organization.

Between Act Clutter Is Under Study

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that the Emmy Awards and the inter-network guerrilla warfare is over, there is time to consider what may be the start of something big for viewers.

The National Association of Broadcasters has made the first tentative step toward the reduction—or at least control of—those long minutes between the end of one program and the beginning of the next.

This period—sometimes 10 or 11 minutes—usually is crammed with bits and pieces, often highly profitable, that the industry calls "clutter."

Our hero rides off into the sunset several minutes before the official end of the show. Then we are treated to a scene designed to lure us to next week's episode, followed by a long, long listing of the cast, producer, director, associate producer, assistant director, cameraman, assistant cameraman, and everybody even remotely connected with the program.

Then come the final commercials, immediately followed by two or three station-break sales pitches and the inevitable station identification. Then comes theme music and the living-room viewer sees a teaser scene from the oncoming show designed to keep him from switching the dial.

Viewers have grumbled about clutter for years, just as they have been complaining for years about loud commercials. Nothing much happened, however, until some of the advertising agencies which buy television time also started to complain about "excessive non-program interruptions."

They thought all the between shows action watered down the effectiveness of the commercials.

Anyway, the NAB's television code review board decided to study the situation — and also the loud commercials situation.

the continuing struggle for peace.

Johnson, in citing improved consular services to be made possible in both countries as a result of the treaty, said Americans visiting the Soviet Union either as tourists or for business reasons "will have available to them a greater degree of consular protection than ever before."

Johnson listed these other potential benefits:

"American businessmen and shipping companies will be able to call on U.S. consular services to assist in representing their interests. And the mechanics for dealing with a whole range of legal problems from inheritance to simply notary services will be considerably eased."

The United States and the Soviet Union have entered into a number of treaties which also involved other signatory countries.

Methodists to Vote Thursday On Negro Churches Joining Up

FAYETTE, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri West Conference of the Methodist Church will vote Thursday afternoon whether to invite Negro Methodist churches to join the conference.

The Board of Social Christian Concern voted Tuesday to submit the proposal to the delegates, who are scheduled to vote on the recommendation at 2 p.m. Thursday. A two-thirds majority is required.

Under the proposal all churches in the Central Jurisdiction (Negro) within the bounds of conference would be invited to join the conference.

The Central Jurisdiction is to meet at St. Louis later this week.

The Missouri East Conference will meet here June 8-11 and is expected to have the same proposal on its agenda. The church national conference two weeks ago in Pittsburgh approved a suggestion that the conferences consider such a move.

Congolese Garrison Reported In Mutiny

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A Congolese garrison in the north Katanga town of Albertville has mutinied, a Katanga official said today.

Katanga was the province led by Moise Tshombe, who refused to unite with the Congo's central government until forced to do so by the United Nations.

Michel Kinteta, a north Katanga minister now in Elisabethville, said he had been told of the mutiny in reports from Albertville.

Other reports said five persons were killed in recent riots in the north Katanga capital. These reports could not be confirmed. There has been no contact with Albertville since Tuesday.

Propose To Change Canada Flag, Anthem

OTTAWA, Canada (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson formally placed before the House of Commons today proposals to change Canada's flag and national anthem. He has staked the life of his Liberal government on approval of the changes.

Pearson proposed a flag composed of three red maple leaves on a white background with a vertical blue band on each end.

He also proposed that "O Canada" be the national anthem and that the present anthem, "God Save the Queen" be recognized as the royal anthem in Canada.

Pearson's motions to the House specifically would authorize the government to take the necessary steps to establish the flag and the anthems.

Judge's Panel Meets

The executive committee of the Missouri County Judges Association met Tuesday in Jefferson City to formulate plans for the group's annual state convention set this year for Sept. 24-25 at the Governor Hotel in the capital city.

Mellroy Is Speaker At Club Meet

The 38th anniversary of the Women's Democratic Club of Pettis County was observed at a birthday meeting held at Smith-Cotton cafeteria, Tuesday evening. John Mellroy, Bowling Green, chairman of the Democratic state committee was the speaker to more than 100 persons.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Lucy Davis, president, who called upon former City Chairman Aubrey Case to give the invocation.

Following the covered dish dinner, Mrs. Davis introduced several persons, including Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fulton of Knob Noster, Frank Meyer, city chairman, and Mrs. Meyer, who in turn introduced Councilman Robert Bader and City Collector Mrs. Frank Hugelmann and Mr. Hugelmann.

John Vandekamp and Al Dominique, accompanied by Mrs. Lillian Maynard, sang several songs.

Nine past presidents of the local club were introduced. Mrs. Judson Banks, Miss Anna King, Mrs. John Devine, Mrs. E. J. Thomas, Mrs. E. L. Birdsong, Mrs. Berry Elliott, Mrs. Emmett Vaught, Mrs. George Chambers and Mrs. Frank Summers, the latter of Beaman. Each of the women had a corsage presented them by Mrs. George Espelin and Mrs. Marshall Bryant.

Mrs. Earl Parker was presented a $10 gift certificate by Mrs. Davis for being the leader in the membership drive.

Henry C. Salveter, county chairman of the Democratic committee, was introduced and in turn introduced Mrs. M. E. Morris, wife of M. E. Morris, candidate for State Treasurer; Miss Teresa Donohue, Mrs. Vivian O. Cummock, Mrs. Frank Blankenship, all of Jefferson City, and Mrs. Salveter.

Salveter then introduced James Millan, law partner of the speaker, of Bowling Green, and county officials, Presiding Judge Berry Elliott; Raymond Wilder, collector; Virgil Houchen, treasurer; Reno Johnson, recorder of deeds; and Deputy Sheriff E. J. Thomas. Then county officials seeking re-election: Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, Jerry Trotter, assessor; and Judge E. L. Birdsong, of the Eastern District.

Also introduced were Joe F. Rains and Emmett Sullivan, Democratic candidates for state representative.

State Chairman Mellroy was introduced by Salveter, who reviewed his successful activity both as an attorney and in politics.

Mellroy opened his talk by reviewing the activities of the many fine Women's Democratic Clubs of Missouri "which," he said, "are one of the greatest segments of our Democratic party." He praised the women for their fine work for the party.

Continuing, Mellroy said:

"I like to plead the case of the Democratic party to the voters of Missouri because we as a party have a strong case to present to the voters. The voters of Missouri are intelligent people, for the most part well-informed upon state and national issues, know the background and reputation of various candidates and are capable of, and do make sound judgments in their selection for officers. We can be proud, a philosophy of government based upon the dignity of the individual and a program of achievement that encompasses every facet of our population in Missouri.

"In 1796 during the first contested national election in America, our party, under the leadership of Thomas Jefferson, campaigned on the principles of 'the rights of man' and from that early beginning, nearly two hundred years ago, the basic principle of our great party has not changed. We are still concerned about 'the rights of man.' Another great Democrat, Governor Alfred E. Smith made a saying that has lived on and that was 'Let's look at the record.'

"I have made some research as to what has happened in Missouri during this thirty-year period. I find from the information furnished me by the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development that thirty-eight hundred new industries were established in Missouri between 1932 and 1962 and to give you some idea as to what that means, that is twenty-five percent more than the combined total of new industries established in Missouri during the preceding one hundred year period.

"You, in this county, are fortunate in having secured industry here. Other communities in Missouri are attracting industry and the efforts to this goal are achieving success.

"I examined records from the State Highway Commission and found that on December 31st, 1932, our state had approximately ten million miles of primary, secondary and other state supported highways and I find that at the end of December, 1962, our state had a total of nearly thirty-one million miles of such highways, almost three times the amount at the beginning of the thirty-year period. The record of bank deposits and other forms of savings of our people will reflect that at the present time they are at an all-time high for our state. We find employment high and unemployment low. Approximately ninety-five percent of our people are employed. Great strides have been made in our educational system and in the last legislative session one of the most important bills passed was the enactment of the bill creating the two branches of the university, one in St. Louis and one in Kansas City. In addition to our state university, we find our state colleges and our private colleges making great strides in the educational field which is the very life-blood and backbone of our people and probably never before in the history of mankind has the need for advanced education been more acute or more necessary and important, not only to the individual but to our nation and to our state.

"When we look at this thirty-year period and examine these records, we find that the Democratic party has discharged its stewardship well of the state's business. We find that our party has furnished to the state honorable men, capable men dedicated to the rights of man, men concerned with the welfare of our state and of our nation. We find that the Democrat party has furnished the type of leadership to the people of Missouri that has enabled this state to move forward and has been so satisfactory to our voters and to our people that they have repeatedly returned the Democrats to power election after election during the entire period.

"The affairs of a political party are not unlike the problems that beset families and individuals, businesses and every other facet of our life. We find that we are constantly required to meet changing conditions, we find that we cannot rest upon our laurels or upon our past achievements but continuously look to the future, must continuously strive to give more and better services, must continuously meet the challenge of new problems as they face us in our ever changing economic and social and political lives and I believe that the Democratic party has done that in the past. I believe that we have constantly met the challenge of changing times. Certainly many of the problems which we face now are complex. In a great many instances the solution is hard to find and certainly no result can be expected that will please everyone and as our life progresses and as our economy expands the problems that face people in government become more complex and the lines between different groups become more sharply drawn.

"Things have never come easy for the Democrats. We are used to hard work, we are used to having difficult times with our financial affairs, we are used to the long rugged road of hard work but I believe that in the year of 1964 as in the past years, we will find when we present our cause to the voters of Missouri and to this nation based upon those four words that Thomas Jefferson used in the election of 1796, 'The right of man,' and based upon the contribution that our party has made to this state and to this nation in the form of leadership, in the form of good government," he concluded.

Dawn Chorus Notes Filling London Air

LONDON (AP) — The liquid notes of the dawn chorus are filling the London air once more. It is an almost forgotten music which is giving the Londoner a new spring in his stride and turning the open spaces of the capital into chattering aviaries.

Birds have not been in such abundance since smoke and smog drove them from the crowded city to suburban gardens and wooded hillsides. They are returning in increasing numbers with strict enforcement of antipollution legislation which now constitutes almost the whole of greater London as a clean-air zone.

The evacuation had made London almost barren of bird-song. Only a few hardy stragglers hung on — the grimy, perky sparrows and the pigeons begging for crumbs in Trafalgar Square, the starlings clustering along the rooftops of Whitehall, and the exotic Mandarin ducks and red-crested pochards imported to St. James's Park. Other visitors were rare.

But a report on bird life in the royal parks just published by a government committee says the whole picture has changed. There are 800 acres of royal parks in the center of the capital and the cuckoo — once lost to London — has been sighted in all of them.

Also sighted have been kittiwake gulls and puffins up from coastal regions, the spotted flycatcher, the garden warbler, waxwings and crossbills.

Even the great spotted woodpecker has alighted on the royal acres where the committee said 134 different species of birds have been identified in the last couple of years.

Mob Screams For Negro To Be Lynched

NEW YORK (AP) — "Lynch him. Kill him," shouted a mob of whites outside a bar where a Negro was being questioned about the holdup murder of a white bartender.

The victim was the third white man attacked by Negroes near the western edge of Harlem in five days.

Police had to call in reinforcements Tuesday night to push through the mob to a patrol car with the Negro. They said early today that the man, Alonzo Cook, 20, of Harlem, had admitted the shooting.

He was booked on a charge of homicide.

Police said the bartender, Gerald Esmond, 55, was talking to a lone customer when the gunman entered and said, "Give me your money."

"Are you kidding?" Esmond asked, and was shot twice. The gunman grabbed $40 from the cash register and fled, pursued by the customer.

Police arrested Cook after they found him in bushes in a church yard.

Esmond, married and the father of one, was well-known in the Vinegar Hill section of Manhattan's upper West Side, a predominantly white neighborhood.

A crowd gathered at the bar at 3299 Broadway and the noisiest rattled and pounded on the door, shouting for a lynching.

Last Friday night, L. Carroll Adams, 56, a professor of physical education at Columbia University, was attacked and robbed of $70 by about 20 teenage Negroes.

Adams was attacked at 120th Street and Riverside Drive after he left a Peace Corps meeting. Police captured six of the Negroes, aged 13 to 16.

The next day Prof. John Hazard, 55, of Columbia Law School was attacked by five Negro teen-agers at Morningside Drive and 113th Street. They knifed him to the ground, took his watch and wallet containing about $30 and fled.

Mass Media Child Fare Is Criticized

By G.K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The American child is being exploited by magazine and book publishers and the producers of movies and television programs, says Mrs. Herman Grant, editor of the PTA Magazine.

"These people could do so very much for our children," she said in an interview today. "The tragic truth is that they really do so little."

Mrs. Grant spoke out on the final day of the 68th annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"The movies have practically exhausted every aberration and deviation known to mankind," she said. "The only hopeful thing is that Hollywood may succeed in making depravity a dismal bore."

"Unfortunately, at the same time, they may make a bore out of many of the good and useful and elevating things in life."

Mrs. Grant said, "Television, in spite of its frequent promises to produce entertaining and instructive children's programs, remains a wasteland—and one mined with dangers to children."

Mrs. Grant noted that many magazines have begun recently to feature discussions of schools and education. But, she said, if "these people were really serious about doing a service to children, they would refrain from their sensational and often misleading titles and editorial come-ons, their gimmicks and devices that make it evident they are less interested in pre-

Negro Named To Dallas City Board

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dr. J. L. Patton Jr., a Negro high school principal, became the second member of his race named to a major city board Monday, when he was named to the board of trustees for the Dallas Public Library. His selection to the nine-member board was without opposition.

Mrs. Johnson Reopens An Art Museum

NEW YORK (AP) — In a glamorous party setting, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson reopened the newly enlarged Museum of Modern Art and declared this generation is in a war against poverty in general and "against poverty of man's spirit," as well.

"This museum is an open door for all who seek enrichment of spirit," said the First Lady Monday night. Then she pressed a button lighting up the museum's terraced sculpture gardens before an applauding crowd of 5,000 invited guests.

The museum celebrated its 35th birthday and its reopening after a six-month remodeling job that cost $7 million.

Mrs. Johnson officiated at the outdoor ceremonies and attended a dinner with 400 donors, art patrons and museum officials in a huge new gallery.

Champagne toasts feted the 800 artists, designers, photographers and sculptors whose works are among the 1,200 items on display. The evening was dedicated to these artists, but they had to wait until the dedication ended after 10:30 p. m. to take a look at the galleries.

Mrs. Johnson arrived at the museum at 7:30 p. m. to find 30 Greenwich Village artists picketing across the street in their campaign to continue to live and work in building lofts. Some city officials claim that using the lofts for living quarters is a possible fire hazard.

"Save our lofts," the pickets chanted, waving placards and white balloons as Mrs. Johnson stepped out of her limousine accompanied by U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson. Others in the crowd cheered the First Lady, who wore a long off-white gown of corded silk with gold thread and rhinestone beading at the bodice.

Sister And Brother Have Perfect Records

Carol Ann Knecht, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Knecht, Windsor, has attended her first 11 years of school without missing a day or being tardy. She will be a senior in autumn. Her brother, Pete Knecht, 15, has attended his first nine years of school without missing a day or being tardy.

Dr. Calderone told the National Congress of Parents and Teachers convention: "The crude, all-pervading sexual stimulation of our advertising and communication media that we adults have allowed to be flaunted before our young makes me wonder at our gall in advocating continence and celibacy — especially from the depths of our own satisfying sexual lives."

"No wonder the young don't listen to us and won't talk to us," Dr. Calderone said young persons are given to believe that "while our society wholeheartedly believes in monogamy and sex within marriage, nevertheless sex outside marriage is fun and sophisticated and an 'in' thing."

American youngsters need a full, fact-filled sex education — appropriate to their age—all the way from kindergarten through high school graduation, Dr. Calderone said.

"They aren't getting it now or anything like it," she added. "We must learn that information on reproduction is not sex education. Far from it. Although we do know a good deal about reproductive education, as yet we have little idea of what sex education should be."

Dr. Calderone, 59, recently announced her resignation as medical director for the Planned Parenthood Association a post which she had held since 1953. She formerly served as school physician of Great Neck, N.Y., and has been active in the American Public Health Association of which she is a fellow.

The test at Phoenix was conducted by the Flight Safety Foundation for the Federal Aviation Agency. The DC7 raced down a runway at 160 miles an hour and slammed into a hillside.

Among the experiments in the staged crash was the air bag system, called "air stop." It is designed by the Martin Co., Baltimore, in a survey of possible use both for airplane passengers and astronauts.

As currently planned, the air-stop bags would be inflated by a switch in the pilot's cabin if a hard landing or crash was anticipated.

The bags inflate swiftly from the back of the seat that each passenger is facing, from under that seat and from under the passenger's own seat. They envelop the passenger in huge cushions of air.

Parents Are Hypocrites About Sex

CHICAGO (AP) — American parents are hypocrites about sex as far as their children are concerned, Dr. Mary C. Calderone of New York said Tuesday.

Dr. Calderone told the National Congress of Parents and Teachers convention: "The crude, all-pervading sexual stimulation of our advertising and communication media that we adults have allowed to be flaunted before our young makes me wonder at our gall in advocating continence and celibacy — especially from the depths of our own satisfying sexual lives."

Appeal of Suit Under Advisement

WICHITA (AP) — The appeal of a former Kansan from a decision in his $250,000 injury suit against an Oklahoma firm has been taken under advisement by the 10th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Appeals judges from a six-state area are holding a decision session to handle more than 30 cases on appeal from lower courts.

Harry L. Coe, now of Clinton, Mo., sued Helmerich and Payne, Inc., owner of a storage tank which exploded near Garden City in 1960.

A lower court ruled Coe was a statutory employ of the oil firm and was covered by workman's compensation and insurance, which precluded him from bringing a common law action against the company.

Coe was employed by an independent contractor hired by Helmerich to clean sediment from the tank.

Charge Minister With Mailing Lewd Materials

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Platte County minister was arrested Tuesday on federal charges of sending and causing to be sent lewd material through the mails.

A deputy U. S. marshal took the Rev. Wilbur Merle Moebus II, 31, into custody at the Gloria Dei Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Mr. Moebus is accused in a two-count indictment returned by a Seattle grand jury. The first alleges that he sent material to a man in Lynnwood, Wash., last Oct. 30, and the second count alleges he had the man send him material in return Nov. 15.

The pastor appeared before U. S. Commissioner Lee E. Cisel who set preliminary hearing for next Tuesday. The Rev. Mr. Moebus was released on $500 bond.

In response to questions by Cisel, he said he has been pastor at the church four years and that he is married and has three children.

Start Test Phase Of Lunar Landing

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States prepared today to start the test phase of its manned lunar landing program with an attempt to orbit an unmanned model of the Apollo moonship.

A Saturn 1 rocket was scheduled to blast off between 9 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. (EST) to propel a model of the spacecraft into an orbit more than 100 miles high.

The spacecraft is the same shape as the vehicle which astronauts one day will ride, but it carries none of the equipment which will be aboard the real thing.

Major purpose of the launching is to further qualify the Saturn 1 rocket, which has registered five straight test-flight successes. On its most-recent flight, the Saturn orbited the heaviest satellite ever sent aloft, a 37,700-pounder.

Mets Crush Cubs, Set Score Record

By HAL ROCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

National League umpires, who are talking about a strike, must have been out painting picket signs.

How else can you explain the New York Mets scoring 19 runs? In a week you say? Well, it's true that would be a prolific output for Casey Stengel's runless wonders for seven days and it's more than they scored last week. But we're talking about a single game.

That's right, a single game. And there were 2,503 fans in Chicago's Wrigley Field Tuesday who can testify to the 19-1 victory. In years to come that number is sure to grow. People like to say they were on hand when history was made.

The Mets, whose past performance has made them somewhat modest souls, did most of the damage with a couple of fellows named Smith. They weren't the tough drop boys but Dick and Charley certainly irritated the Cubs as New York sprayed 23 hits against six Chicago hurlers.

Dick Smith became the first Met ever to get five hits in a game with three singles, a double and a triple. Charley Smith belted a three-run homer, the game's only four bagger, and added two singles for five RBI.

Jack Fisher, delighted with the fantastic support, fashioned a four-hitter and went the distance for the first time since May 3, 1963.

And Stengel? The Ol' Perfesser was delighted with the show. "Well, I suppose most of the club owners will be trying to contact me now to get my players," he told newsmen.

Don't expect a mad rush. Case. While the Mets were wearing out Cub fielders, Pittsburgh gave Philadelphia a similar treatment. The Pirates scored 10 runs in the first two innings and coasted to a 13-4 victory. Houston dropped Milwaukee 4-2 and Cincinnati whipped Los Angeles 6-2. San Francisco and St. Louis were rained out.

The Mets jumped on Cub starter Bob Buhl for four runs in the first and completed the carnage with six runs in the ninth. In between they kept the Cubs chasing base hits all over the field and looked like anything but cellar dwellers.

Manny Mota had a solo homer and Jim Pagliaroni crashed a grand slammer as the Pirates hopped on Chris Short and Dallas Green in the first two innings.

Vern Law won it with a six-hitter fanning seven and walking

Henning, Myers Win Team Match

Although the Tuesday night wrestling show was held inside, the early evening storm had a bad effect on attendance, it dropping to a season low. But the small crowd was treated to a real thriller in the final team-tag event.

Old enemies joined together to meet what were supposed to be the tough boys of the ring and won. Sonny Myers and Lee "Bulldog" Henning won over the Stomper and Bob Giegel.

It was 10 minutes and 10 seconds after the event started that the Stomper beat Henning with a series of stomps and finally a press. In the second period Henning came through to overpower Giegel with a series of body slams and press to win in six minutes flat. The final fall went to Myers over Giegel, after Giegel and Stomper had a dispute over who would get in the ring or stand on the apron. Body slams and a press won for Myers after four minutes and 35 seconds.

The opening event, one fall, 20-minute time limit, Sonny Myers and Bob Giegel ended in a slugfest with Myers the winner at the sound of the gong.

A special event between Baron Von Straus and Tom Poulos, a new comer from Detroit, Mich., went to Straus after three falls. Von Straus took the first fall in 11 minutes and 50 seconds using a series of body slams and press. Poulos won the second in three minutes and 20 seconds with a reverse Boston crab. Von Straus took four minutes and 35 seconds to finish off the match to win with a knee kick and press.

Monument Next Move By Finley

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Owner Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics says he's going to erect a center field monument to Connie Mack as the next move in his battle with the New York Yankees.

"If anybody thinks it (the monument) is going to be any place outside the stadium, they are crazy," the outspoken owner declared Tuesday. "It will be about 400 feet from the plate—10 feet inside the fence."

Finley predicted he would get telegrams from Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and American League President Joe Cronin, similar to those he received after he built his penant porch. The wires ordered him to remove the porch or forfeit all home games.

"You forfeit them, will be the answer," Finley said. "That monument is going to stay there until you move the ones from Yankee Stadium."

"The Yankees have got three huge monuments out there in center field. As far as I know that may be a cemetery out there. Ruth may be buried there."

Finley's porch was a protest against the unscreened 296-foot foul line in right field in Yankee Stadium. He moved the porch back to the rulebook 325-foot line after the wires from Frick and Cronin.

The owner said if baseball doesn't force the Yanks to put up foul line screens in the next two or three years, "I'll get the hell out of baseball."

98 Entries For Races On May 30

Racing fans have an opportunity to see one of the biggest fields in super modified competition here Memorial Day (May 30) as some 100 drivers, including the tops in A, B and hobby car events, clash in the Jaycees' fourth annual racing program at the State Fair grounds.

Time trials begin at 11 a.m. with racing at 1 p.m. on the half-mile track—site of the Missouri super modified championship in August.

"You don't see this many cars anywhere but at the national championship in Knoxville, Ia.," a Central Missouri Racing Association official observed at mid-week as entries hit 98.

Jim Penn, Jaycee president, said drivers may still enter the races, but their names will not be included in the official programs.

Big names starlusted the A competition, including Greg Weld, Kansas City, last year's May 30 winner as well as reigning national super modified champion; Russell Hibbard, Slater, defending Missouri modified king; veteran Junior Hower, Kansas City, former state champ; Bud McCune, LaCade, Mo., a former national champion; and Ken Taylor, Slater, five-time CMRA kingpin.

Not to be denied are Sedalia's Big Bill Utz and Jack Belk of Joplin plus a classy field from Kansas City. Entries from the KC area this year total 32 in the A division alone.

Hobby car entrants are headed up by Sedalia's own Wally Calvert, current state champion in that division.

The program opens with a three-lap trophy dash and the hobby car race. Class B and A heats follow, highlighted by a 15-lap B feature and the 30-lap main event for the A cars.

Race proceeds go toward various Junior Chamber of Commerce projects, including a lighted Babe Ruth league baseball diamond nearing completion in Centennial Park.

Plugs Anti-Poverty With Work Proposals

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An advisor to President Johnson's anti-poverty program plugged the program before the national convention of United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers Tuesday.

"We have everything to solve the problem," Michael Harrington told the 800 delegates. "All we have to do is put the money and people to work."

As Tom Dix walked and scored on a double by his brother, Jim Dix, Weber permitted only one more base runner—Jim Dix on a third inning single.

It originally was set up as a best-of-three series, with a third game if needed immediately following the second. But the rules provide for a one-game showdown if the first game is washed out, and for re-scheduling of the playoff in event of another rainout.

Idle After Heavy Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain swept baseball under the rug in Missouri Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals and Kansas City A's had their games postponed.

Both teams will be back tonight, the Cardinals against the San Francisco Giants in a single game, and the A's against the Chicago White Sox in a two-night doubleheader.

The postponement in St. Louis only re-scheduled the expected pitching duel between Bob Gibson, 4-0, of the Cardinals and Juan Marichal, 6-1, of the Giants.

St. Louis' Curt Simmons, 6-2, and Bob Hendley, 3-3, of the Giants probably will move back as starters in Thursday night's contest.

The washout at Kansas City throws pitching plans into confusion. The A's had Orlando Pena, 5-3, scheduled to pitch Tuesday night and Aurelio Montegudo, 0-3, and Vern Handrahan, 0-1, scheduled for tonight.

For the White Sox, it was Juan Pizarro, 5-0, or Frank Kreutzler, 1-0, Tuesday. If Pizarro didn't pitch Tuesday, he would have started tonight with John Buzhardt 4-2.

The rain-out helped the Cardinals and the Giants as first-

13th Edition Of J Bar H Rodeo Set

The 13th edition of the nationally famous J Bar H Rodeo will be presented at Camdenton, Mo., Saturday, June 27 thru Saturday, July 4, at 8 p.m.

Michael Landon, the handsome and talented "Little Joe" of the Bonanza TV series will be the featured attraction, June 27 thru June 30. Rex Allen, recording, movie and TV star, who is America's greatest western entertainer, returns after a six-year absence to take over the starring role July 1 thru July 4.

Bucking stock led by the famous Jesse James, will be furnished by the Inman Rodeo Co., of Lamar, Colo. Clowning and bull fighting will be adequately handled by J Bar H favorites Pistol Holiday and Buck LeGrande, and they will be assisted in their chores by a sensational new comer to the Camdenton scene, Tom LeGrande, Buck's younger brother. The top professional cowboys of North America will compete in six contest events for approximately $30,000 in prize money.

Rounding out the star studded presentation will be Cecil Cornish and his Golden Liberty Horses; Wayne Cornish and his thrilling Roman Jumping Team; Jim Eskew, Jr. of Ardmore, Okla., the undisputed world champion trick roper. Allen Bing, the king of the electric organ, will again furnish the rodeo music for which he is famous.

McGreevy In Big Eight's Hitting Lead

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve McGreevy of Kansas leads Big Eight baseball hitters with a .421 average and Keith Weber of Missouri is the top pitcher with an amazing 0.18 earned run average.

McGreevy apparently has clinched the batting crown. Dave Harvey of Missouri is second at .418 and both have finished conference play. The figures include all league games except the closing three-game series between Oklahoma State and Nebraska.

Don Sessions, Colorado sophomore, leads the league in homers with five and runs batted in at 19, more than Mike Der Manuel of Kansas, although Sessions hit only 222 and Der Manuel's 271 was far down.

Harvey leads in slugging percentage with .667 and his 46 total bases ties him with Stirling Coward of Kansas for first. Colorado's Leon Mavity is second with a .631 slugging mark, leads in doubles at nine and in extra base hits with 13.

British Troops In Mountains

THUMAIR, Federation of South Arabia (AP)—A battalion of British troops ran into trouble from cliffside gunners Tuesday in staging an attack up a narrow ravine against a rebel stronghold in Radfan Mountains.

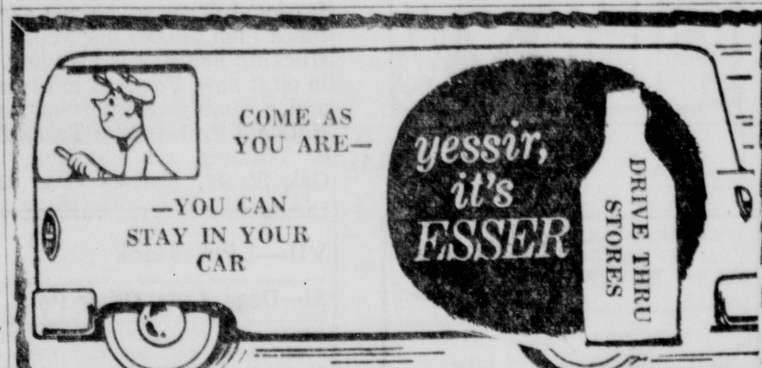

Tribesmen of the band called the Red Wolves of Radfan felled one British helicopter, put 18 bullet holes into another and poured harassing fire on the troops below them on the gravel bed of the ravine, the Dhubsan Wadi.

Shooting from caves and from behind boulders along the cliffs, they killed one British soldier and wounded seven.

Though supported by field guns firing from positions three miles in the rear and by a half-dozen Hawker-Hunter jet fighters, the marines and paratroopers making up the battalion could make little impression on the rebel snipers and machine gunners.

The Dhubsan Wadi is on a supply route from neighboring Yemen, which is in sympathy with the rebels. Almost every peak is topped by a stone pill-box or lookout post.

Old Tunes Played With Kind Regard

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is the prom season, and to a whole generation of Angelinos that means Freddy Martin and the Coconut Grove.

The figure is as trim, the sax as mellow as when Freddy was fronting his smooth - playing band amid the palms 25 years ago. Egad, it was exactly a quarter - century ago that we seniors of Los Angeles High School celebrated at the Grove with fruit punches, praying all the while that our dates would not order anything foolish like a steak sandwich.

I took a sentimental journey back to the Grove this month to partake of sterner stuff and listen once more to the changeless artistry of Freddy Martin. The old tunes are played with the same kind regard for rhythm and melody, but the Martin men can also knock out a twist or whatever the new generation demands.

"We'll give 'em the right beat for the dances they want," says Freddy. "But you know, there's something about the Grove; it's almost like visiting a shrine. The kids respect it, and they don't do so much of the wild dances."

Freddy is himself celebrating a milestone this year—a third of a century as a bandleader. Not bad in an industry that's supposed to have a high mortality rate.

"Started in grill room of the Bossert Hotel in Brooklyn in 1931," he mused. "Had six pieces then. Opening night the place was packed for the first show, and by 10 o'clock the place was empty. I found out the crowd was songpluggers, and they pulled out to catch the debut of another new band, Eddy Duchin."

Freddy persevered, and he worked his way up to the Marine Roof of the hotel, where he appeared on radio as Capt. Freddy Martin and his Musical Mariners. He really hit his stride when he started playing at the Grove, then scored on records with his popularized concertos.

Citizenship Rests On Rescue Location

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Is Barbara Benita Mejias, born in an open boat in which her parents fled Cuba, an American or Cuban citizen?

The decision may depend on the log of the British frigate Tartar, which plucked the refugees from the boat April 30.

Immigration officer Joseph Minton said Monday that Cmdr. B. C. G. Hutchings has been asked to report the longitude and latitude of the pickup.

If Barbara was born within three miles of the U.S. coast, she's American.

Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Mejias, are hoping she'll be an American.

Photos Hardest For Jackie To Look At Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy looked over mementos of her late husband and remarked, almost in a whisper, "I suppose the photographs are the hardest to look at."

The pictures showed the late President Kennedy with his family as a boy, playing with his own children, campaigning.

This Friday would have been the 47th birthday of Kennedy, killed by an assassin last Nov. 22. The birthday anniversary will be marked by an international television program, "JFK: May 29, 1964," in which his widow will take part.

Mrs. Kennedy was here Monday to inaugurate a traveling exhibit of his mementos. She made the comment about his photographs after a reporter asked what part of the exhibit impressed her most.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy also attended the preview.

After a nationwide tour, the mementos will be put on display in the library planned at Harvard University to house Kennedy's papers.

Friendship Program Grows

Outside on the flag pole at Heber Hunt School recently two large fish with large sequin eyes floated in the breeze beneath the American flag. All of the children of the school watched as they were being put up and were interested, but the most interested were the second graders in the school, for it was to them that the fish and many other things had been sent from the children of Japan.

Four young second grade teachers, Miss Barbara Freund, Miss Betty Sue Eddle, Mrs. Charlene Bunker, and Mrs. Marva Flournoy sat around a table talking enthusiastically about the children in their rooms and the deep interest that had come between them and the Japanese children. There had been many gifts symbolic of their countries and their way of life sent by each to the schools of the other and it had been such fun. There was the room taught by Miss Hazel Barnett, too, but Miss Barnett could not be there to talk that afternoon. However she left some of the things received by her room to show.

Perhaps the most interesting thing received from the children of Japan was the series of letters written in Japanese by the second graders in Imoo Primary School, Imao, Hirata-cho, Kaizu-gun, Gifu Pref, Japan, each with a picture they had drawn to illustrate the letter, and below the letter translated in English by Saburo Mori, the principal of the school.

"In Japan, we have a Bean Throwing Festival," wrote eight year old Masanori Hibi. (Setsubyn in Japanese), and he drew a picture of a boy throwing beans.

"I have scattered beans at Bean Throwing Festival," wrote Haruko Hayakawa and in this picture two Japanese youngsters were shown throwing beans.

These letters were written at the first of the year and Tsune-

Year has gone and now is cold. The New Year is cold winter. So our teacher made a fire every day for us and I don't mind the cold weather a bit." All of the pictures are with a bright colored crayon but apparently different from the crayons used by the American children. This picture had three youngsters standing around a blazing fire.

"Celebrations for the New Year passed away and now it is cold winter — 1964 January," Tadashi-Hibi wrote and had a picture of two Japanese children making a snowman.

"I live in Imao town," Kayuyo Okada wrote, "There flows the Ibi River in the west of our town." This letter had a picture of a Japanese girl.

"This picture is playing together with my friend," Michio Kawai wrote.

From Ko Mori came the picture of the Japanese flag. "This is the Japanese flag. What colors are the Stars and Stripes. Our flag are two colors, these are red and white."

This is the People to People program between the Heber Hunt second graders and second graders of the Japanese school. One teacher had many things from Japan. Dishes which she could show the American youngsters for from Japan came the information that their chief foods were fish and rice and they would eat three or four bowls of rice at a meal. The bowls, they found, were little bowls, and each food is served in a separate dish. There were dainty tea cups, too.

The American children have been having fun learning about Japan. They have made Japanese lanterns, paper fans and have tried to eat with chop sticks but they think they like their table silverware better.

Among the things sent by the Japanese children was the music book and one or two of the songs have been translated, so the American children have learned them. One song goes along with the fish.

These fish, three or four feet long or more, are made of a cloth and in Japan are hung from a pole at the home on Boys' Day, in May and it is a national holiday, a carp is flown for each boy in the family. The main idea behind the flying of the balloon carp is to inspire the boys of Japan with courage and determination with which carp run up the streams.

The cloth carp are caught by the wind, they fill out and appear to be actually swimming in the air like real fish. Carp, about 15 feet long are flown for the eldest son, with other carp grading down to a very small one which is for the baby boy in the family. The carp are called "koinobori."

There is also a display of dolls of famous feudal generals, warriors and other heroes in the alcove, the best room of the house together with lots of miniature paraphernalia including such items as swords, bows and arrows, suits of armor, spears, helmets, banners, drums and etc.

Then there is another day celebrated. It is the Girl's Doll Festival, also known as Peach Pete. The family collection of Lind-dolls, handed down from mother to daughter for generations, is brought out of storage and carefully arranged on shelves which are erected in the guest room and are displayed for a week or more so that the little girls of the family and their friends may admire.

The children in one room made puppets of Japanese characters in the story of "The Goddess of Mt. Fuji." Then they had a puppet show of the story.

The American children have learned to count to ten in Japanese and even done some simple arithmetic with the Japanese symbols. Then a little girl from Mexico wanted them to learn to count in Spanish, and a boy wanted to count in German and still another one in French.

The children have gained an awareness of different nations and of different skin color. They are beginning to compare the difference in their own skin shades and those of their parents. "My skin is darker than my mother's," a little girl said, "but that doesn't make any difference, she loves me just the same."

Saburo Mori, who has been writing the letters, is very much interested in the PTA.

"Our PTA is very active," he wrote, "and last year we have had the honour of being commended by the Minister of Education."

He went on to say that they also have Parent and Children's meetings in each village and try to guide the children in their social life. There are 23 villages in his school community, he stated, and they gather once a month and discuss one another about study and play, and sometimes enjoy recreation together.

The Heber Hunt PTA subscribed to the PTA magazine for a year for them, and sent other things about the PTA.

The American children and their teachers sent pictures of Sedalia and of the different seasons, a copy of the Centennial edition of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, a patriotic box, Christmas things which included wreaths, trees, snow men and other decoration. In the spring box they sent American kites, and through pictures and letters they have learned that some of their games are similar.

Saburo Mori wrote, too, of the cherry blossoms, "The 'sakura' or cherry, is the favorite flower of our people, the entire coun-

Groundbreaking Held For New Ball Stadium

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Monday for the 50,000-seat Downtown Sports Stadium scheduled to be completed for the 1966 baseball season.

Present were Vice President Stan Musial and Manager Johnny Keane of the St. Louis Cardinals, who will play in the stadium along with St. Louis' professional football team.

The stadium is located on the Mississippi Riverfront near the partially completed 630-foot Gateway Arch. Adjacent to the stadium will be a 2,800-car garage.

Miss Burford Ends Career As Teacher

Miss Ruth Burford, 1625 West 16th, who this spring retired after 46 years of teaching, was honored Sunday afternoon at open house by Mark Twain PTA in the school building where she taught since it was built.

Baskets of iris decorated the front of the gymnasium. Kathryn Lyles and Mary Ellen Gross presided at the guest book.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of lavender iris and six yellow lighted candles in white milk glass containers. Serving were Mrs. William Lyles, Mrs. Ernest Swearingin, Mrs. Van Jones, Mrs. Harley Sanford, Mrs. Fred Keane and Mrs. Virgil Corson. Mrs. Claude Lambirth was in charge of arrangements.

Pupils Miss Burford taught through the years attended. Among guests were her sister and brother-in-law, Bennie and Jewell Nave, and their niece, Donna Nave, of the family home; her cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Burford Ezell, Anaconda, Mont.; Mrs. Anna Elliott Gray, California, a former teacher at Mark Twain.

Miss Burford was presented flowers and gifts.

Seventh grade Junior American Citizens Club gave her a dime for every year she had taught, with dates complete from 1917 to 1964.

Friday night Jack Delph, principal, Mrs. Delph, and faculty members, entertained Miss Burford and Mr. and Mrs. Nave at smorgasbord at Holiday Inn.

When Miss Burford was graduated from high school she began teaching in rural schools. She went to college during summers, to complete her education, and taught in the schools here and in the old Prospect School eight years before Mark Twain was built.

Miss Burford has been active in the Wesley Methodist Church and its predecessor, Fifth Street Methodist, where she taught Sunday School, and filled many conference offices. She has been active in Order of the Eastern Star and was worthy matron in 1951 of Pettis Chapter.

For the past eight years, Miss Burford has had a double career; selling part time at Flowers.

BOYS CLUB NOTES

Summer schedule for Boys Club outdoors activities will start Wednesday, June 3, with a Tennis clinic for beginners and advanced students. The clinic will include the proper handling of tennis equipment, rules on the correct way to play the game for enjoyment and perfection. This will be the second year of the clinic and will again be in charge of Bob Moore, former city champion. The clinic will start at 9 each Wednesday morning and those desiring to participate are asked to bring their own racquet.

On Thursday, June 4, the Trampoline program will begin at 9 o'clock and for the months of June, July and August, a member of the Boys Club may have half an hour of Trampoline time with instructions. Or, the boy may play space ball, if he desires. Also on Thursdays will be softball or baseball under supervision. This program is similar to the one held last year.

On Thursday and Saturdays boys may sign up for hiking, fishing or any other outdoor activity and if enough boys sign up for these activities plans will be carried through.

Regular Saturday programs will continue through the summer and the Wednesday evening program will be discontinued in favor of the all day opening on Thursday.

Over 250 Boys' Clubs have joined in the national effort to lift the aspiration levels of youth through operation "Lift Up" since the program was introduced last October. This program which is in effect locally has a variety of approaches, all aimed at meeting the specific needs of the community.

The local club has strengthened its reading program, expanded its home work efforts and in several instances provided individual tutoring. On the available list are retired teachers, college students and alumni of the high schools. Guidance services in education, employment and job counseling have been introduced or expanded by the Sedalia Club.

Many Rural, Small Areas Are Still Without Doctor

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — American medical schools are winning a tough struggle to produce bumper crops of new doctors each year, but that doesn't mean everyone will find it easy to get a doctor to come to his home at night to find out what's causing junior's stomach ache.

Although the nation's supply of doctors has grown faster than the population explosion since the start of this decade, many rural and small town areas are without a physician. And more and more medical school graduates after years of struggle to become physicians, are going into the selective, higher paying specialties.

Opinions differ on whether there is an actual doctor shortage in the United States.

A resounding "yes" comes from small town patients who have to drive to a larger city to find a doctor, from city residents who spend hours waiting their turn in a busy doctor's office, and from suburban residents who have trouble locating a general practitioner.

But Dr. Hugh Hussey, director of the American Medical Association division of scientific activities and former dean of the Georgetown University School of Medicine, Washington, gives a "qualified no" to the question.

He said the physician-population ratio, which measures the number of physicians available for each 100,000 persons, is more favorable today than 10 years ago. He said this greater physician supply has been and will be able to meet increasing demands for medical care stemming from general prosperity and expanded sickness insurance programs.

But he added that he could not give an unqualified "no" because of his conviction that "we could use more physicians right now—in education and research to take advantage of rapidly developing new knowledge — and in practice to relieve the modern physician's problem of chronic overwork."

Norman Davis, director of the program for community medical assistance of the Sears, Roebuck Foundation, believes many small communities are hard hit by a doctor shortage and he blames the trend toward specialization in medicine.

Davis, who specializes in assisting small communities to prepare for and attract physicians, said the AMA and medicine in general have done a good job in boosting the output from the nation's medical schools.

"But it doesn't do a lot of good if 78 per cent of each year's graduating class specialize," he added. "Maybe the ratio of doctors is increasing, but what good does it serve if it doesn't meet the needs of the community?"

In 1950 there were 80 approved medical schools in the United States. Today there are 87, with 11 additional universities having construction commitments or planning to build medical schools.

Today there are 141.7 physicians for every 100,000 persons in the United States and Dr. Hussey said the rise has been constant in recent years.

The generally rosy physician supply situation existing today didn't just happen.

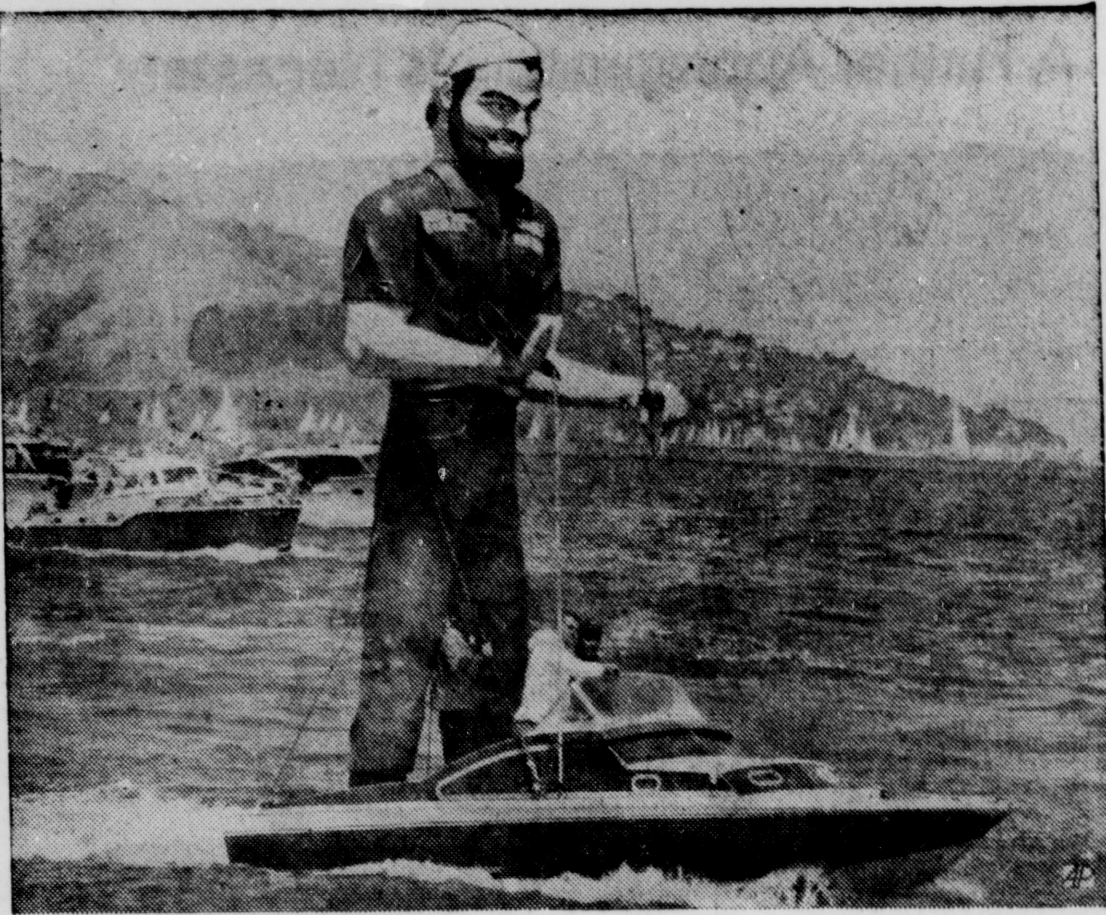

A jolt came after America entered the space race. Costs of financing a medical education had soared and many top medical prospects in high schools and colleges went into glamor scientific fields requiring fewer years of study.

Intensive medical recruitment and financial assistance programs sprang up nationally and in the various states to cope with the problem.

The AMA and many constituent medical societies offered scholarships and loan funds to medical students. In the last two years, the AMA has made nearly 14,000 loans totaling some $16 million.

Several medical schools have begun experimental programs to consolidate and correlate courses so that the years of formal study can be reduced.

The American Academy of General Practice established a project to visit student groups and interest them in becoming generalists.

Even before the advent of the space age, local medical societies inaugurated programs to attract graduates of medical colleges in their states.

A medical society in Alabama offers student gifts of a maximum of $400 a year for four years with the provision that each recipient practice in Jefferson County, Ala., for each year of the grant.

The Illinois State Medical Society and the Illinois Agricultural Association offer student loans up to $5,000 with the provision that graduates from any U.S. or Canadian medical school continue general practice in an Illinois small community for five years.

The Nebraska Medical Foundation, Inc., offers loans to Nebraska Medical School students with assurances that the debt will be reduced if the graduate practices in a Nebraska rural area.

Free scholarships ranging up to $2,000 are being offered in Nevada and Ohio.

The low point in medical school applications came in 1961-62, but the trend has been upward since then.

Looking ahead to 1975, the AMA council on medical education and hospitals says it is impossible to make exact predictions of the number of graduates needed by then. But based on current birth rate trends, the commission said a goal of 10,500 that year appears as "a reasonable, tentative objective to be increased or diminished as

Charge US Is Using Faulty Equipment In Viet Nam Area

NEW YORK (AP)—Life magazine says an American Air Force pilot killed in South Viet Nam clearly meant to portray in his letters that U.S. pilots there were "supplied with obsolete and faulty equipment."

George P. Hunt, managing editor of Life, made the comment Monday in a letter to Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Wed., May 27, 1964 3

Sylvester answering the latter's charge that the magazine had "completely altered the sense" of the letters.

Life published in its May 8 issue some of the letters sent by Capt. Edwin G. Shank Jr. to his wife in Winamac, Ind. He was killed late last March in a plane crash in Viet Nam.

The letters, also published elsewhere, were cited as basis for contentions that the United States was using obsolete aircraft in South Viet Nam.

Clarendon Road Project

If the City of Sedalia and the Twelve Mile Road District can find the financial means to accomplish it, an improvement of Clarendon Road should be made.

Development of this traffic way would be beneficial to residents of Southwest Village, providing for them a less dangerous exit than the one at Highway 65.

Since opening of Holiday Inn, village residents traveling east on Plaza avenue, coming to town, have to keep an eye on cars cutting across the avenue and into the north entrance to the Inn. Next they must make a stop a few feet farther at the intersection with Highway 65. Here, particularly on week ends when lake traffic is heavy, entering the highway is a most hazardous undertaking, almost comparable with playing Russian roulette.

Clarendon road connects 32nd street with 16th street. It borders the west boundary of Southwest Village and the Missouri State Fair grounds. Half of it including a jog is in the city limits, the balance in the Twelve Mile Road district.

Residents of the village have petitioned the city and road district for improvement of this thoroughfare which also could become a more usable traffic belt line all the way through on Thompson boulevard to Highway 50. It would certainly be an added utility during state fair week.

Of course some additional safety factors would have to be established at the point Clarendon road crosses the M.K. & T. railroad right of way. However, this is not an unsolvable obstacle.

The fact that an improvement is suggested invites consideration of its merit and discussion of the means by which this can be accomplished.

Despite anticipated objections, as usual, this road will have to be improved someday unless Sedalia starts shrinking instead of expanding.

It is encouraging that Sedalia's city officials and district road board members responded so quickly to the petitioners' request and made an inspection of the proposed project.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: 7-Cent Nickels.—Gresham's law is at work on the American nickel. It's not that there are any (or many) bad nickels, but that some nickels, or some mintages of nickels, are better (more equal?) than others.

During World War II the 35 per cent content of actual nickel in a five-cent piece was replaced for a while with less strategic silver. Now silver has become worth much more than nickel again—so much more that a silver "nickel" is worth about seven cents if melted down.

The melting down involves a rather complex industrial process; nevertheless enough such nickels are disappearing from circulation to cause the Bureau of the Mint in the Treasury Department to be concerned.

So, don't take any wooden nickels but if you suspect any silver ones turn them in to a bank so the Mint can replace them.

Like West Berlin

The longer West Berlin remains an island of Westernism surrounded by a Communist sea, the more secure its position seems to get—at least in one respect: the morale of its 2.3 million inhabitants.

Social scientists and opinion samplers have been scrutinizing Berliners for years, testing their barometric reactions to changes in the political pressures under which they live.

Back in 1948-49, at the time of the airlift, every third citizen was ready to pack up and leave. It was not so bad in 1961 after the Wall was built; only every fifth person would have left if he could.

Now the latest survey reveals that 75 per cent of all West Berliners want to spend the rest of their lives in the city. The sociologists have found an increasing solidarity among the entire population. Berliners no longer think of their city as an isolated threatened outpost, but as part of the West. This feeling is backed by another survey in which 10 million West Germans said they would not mind living in the city.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Little Miss Arline Downs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Downs, 1108 West Third Street, was guest of honor at a birthday party at her home. Her mother was assisted by Mrs. Clifford Johnson and Mrs. Walter Bohling in entertaining the following children: Dorothy and Billy Pearl, Russell McReory, Fletcher Carter, Jr., Buddy Booten, Helen Odell, Marian Williams, Ernestine Stroup, Tommy and Edward Hurley, Billy Solon, Evelyn Kendis, Jane Barnett, Maurine Johnson, Mary Edith Harnsberger, Mary Lou Reid, Maurine Bohling, Joann Waddell, Atwell Bohling and Arline Downs.

Although the Berliners have become "crisis resistant" as well as prosperous over the years, they have not lessened in their highly sensitive reaction to every political development that affects them.

While the attention of the world so often focuses on Berlin, the eyes of Berlin are constantly looking outward.

Leaders Bristle on Eve of Agreement

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev, the world's most important pen pals, are within a dotted "i" of a dramatic new agreement to ease world tensions.

In their crisp but friendly private correspondence, they have discussed two possibilities:

1. A pledge to scrap old bombers or, at least, to keep them off the second-hand market. This would prevent other nations from acquiring them to start small wars.

2. An arrangement to cooperate more closely in examining and exploring outer space.

Curiously, the closer the two leaders have come to an agreement, the most hostile they have behaved.

Upon Johnson's stern orders, the State Department accused the Russians of druging three U.S. military attaches and loading the masonry at our Moscow embassy with secret microphones.

Khrushchev, for his part, delivered his most truculent attack on the United States in months, using words he has been reserving lately for the Chinese Communists.

"This is a sign they must be getting close to an agreement," wryly remarked a White House insider. "First, Johnson has to reassure the John Birchers he hasn't gone soft on communism, and Khrushchev must demonstrate to the Stalinists he can be as revolutionary as the Chinese."

Beagles Strike Back

Those celebrated Beagles, whose yelp was heard around the world after President Johnson playfully hoisted them by the ears, almost got a yelp out of him the other day.

At a White House gathering of Democratic ladies, him and her were maneuvered under a refreshment table. During the scramble, a high heel inadvertently came down on a canine foot.

There was a yelp, and the dog snapped out at random. The would-be bite nearly caught the president on the leg.

It all happened so quickly that observers couldn't identify which Beagle almost gave the world a dog-bites-president story.

Ike Dislikes Goldwater

Although ex-President Eisenhower has refused to lead a stop-Goldwater movement, he hasn't bothered to conceal his distaste for the Arizona senator.

Ike is still nettled over a remark Goldwater once made that "one Eisenhower is enough for our time."

The former president told visiting GOP congressmen the other day that he had asked Goldwater directly whether he had actually made the remark.

"The senator didn't deny it," said Ike with a sardonic grin. "He tried to minimize the intent behind the remark, saying he only meant to comment on our changing political scene."

"But his explanation was a lot more acceptable to him than it was to me."

Stuck for $40,000

The Democratic national committee, having adopted a let's-pretend-he's-not-there attitude toward Alabama Governor George Wallace, refused to contribute a penny toward his defeat in the Maryland presidential primary.

The committee remained unmoved by urgent warnings that Wallace might score an upset victory over President Johnson's stand-in, Senator Dan Brewster.

Less complacent, the Maryland senator launched a last-minute drive to stop Wallace. To pay the campaign expenses, Brewster was compelled to sign personal notes for $40,000.

Though Democratic leaders now agree he saved the president from political embarrassment, Brewster is still in hock for 40 grand.

Note: Evidence has now come to light that Wallace was boosted by Senator Barry Goldwater's supporters in Maryland.

Succession Problem: Big Dilemma

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is still wrestling with the long-standing national confusion about presidential succession and disability, and the end is not in sight.

Through the years solutions have been offered by the bushel. Congress acted on some, passing laws and changing them. Lyndon B. Johnson's succession to the presidency, leaving the vice presidency vacant, revived the dilemma.

Two former presidents, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon have agreed something should be done but not exactly on how. There has been wide disagreement in Congress.

Earlier this year Truman and Nixon suggested the Electoral College elect a new vice president to fill a vacancy in that office. Eisenhower this week had a different idea.

He suggested the president be empowered to name a vice president if there isn't one, provided the man he picks is approved by both houses of Congress.

The American Bar Association had already recommended that procedure be followed through a constitutional amendment. A Senate subcommittee, working on the problem for months, feels the same way.

It was expected to suggest, perhaps today, that this be done. But a constitutional amendment needs approval by two-thirds of both houses of Congress and by three-fourths of the states.

The trouble here is at the start, for while the Senate may approve one plan the House may prefer another. But that is only part of the problem. The other is the question of presidential disability.

How does a vice president take over if a president is disabled, or how does he take over if a president is disabled but doesn't know it or won't or can't admit it?

Eisenhower and Nixon and after them Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson had an understanding; there was no law covering this. Now Johnson has a similar agreement with the man next in line to succeed him because there is no vice president, House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

Truman had said that once a vice president takes office, because of a president's disability, the president would not be entitled to resume his office if and when he recovered.

But Eisenhower said he had no fear that a vice president would refuse to surrender the presidency — once a stricken president was able to resume it — because, he said, "I think he couldn't possibly get away with it."

Nixon said the arrangements worked out by Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson in case of their disability — letters to the men next in line to succeed them — lack the force of law and would be inadequate if a dispute arose.

Under a law passed in 1947 if the president dies, and there is no vice president, next in line to succeed is the House speaker, right now, McCormack, and then the Senate's president pro tempore, right now, Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz.

The Senate subcommittee is expected to recommend a constitutional amendment covering both the succession to the presidency, explained above, and the problem of disability this way:

When a president says in writing he's too disabled to carry out his job, the vice president would become acting president until the president declared his disability ended.

If the president didn't make his disability known, the vice president with approval by a majority of the Cabinet could declare the president disabled and assume the powers and duties but not the office of president.

If the president disputed this act of his vice president and Cabinet, Congress would have to decide by a two-thirds vote of both houses for the vice president to continue as acting president. Otherwise, the president would resume his powers and duties.

THE WELL CHILD

There Are Many Causes For Word Blindness

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Association

The 13-year-old grandson of a reader is being held back in school because he is wordblind. He reads like a boy of 6.

Word blindness is a complex problem because it may be the result of defective vision or hearing, a glandular disturbance, a bad start in the early grades or some emotional strain. Most victims are boys.

Often they have normal intelligence despite the fact that teachers, parents and classmates are likely to consider them not bright. The earlier remedial measures are taken the better. They should be started long before the child reaches 13.

This boy should have a thorough physical and psychological examination to discover the causes, so that he can be given special attention. Regardless of the cause, however, it is necessary to bolster the child's ego. Special tutoring in phonetic reading should be given.

It often takes a year or two before any improvement is seen even with the best of care. In planning for the child's future, it must be recognized that, no matter how much progress he makes, reading will never be one of his strong points.

Q — Our son, 6, has frequent colds. He has been given Thorazine three times a day for a long time. Is it safe to give this drug to a child year after year?

A — Chlorpromazine (Thorazine) is a tranquilizer. A 6-year-old child who is so severely disturbed emotionally as to need this powerful drug should have psychiatric care.

Q — Our daughter is 18 months old. For the past nine months she has had a hard time moving her bowels. She screams when she passes a hard dry stool and sometimes it has blood on it. My doctor told me not to worry about it. He had me give her laxatives and plenty of water.

A — Be sure your daughter gets some vegetable and fruit at least twice a day. Withhold foods she likes until she finishes her vegetables and fruit. When the stools are hard use an infant size glycerin suppository or a three-ounce water enema. Give her plenty of water to drink but discontinue all laxatives.

The Mature Parent

Are Teen-Agers Stubborn?

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I wouldn't wish my worst enemy to be the parents of a teen-ager today. They are so mean and bull-headed. We have a girl, 16, who is always saying she is going to do something she knows we think is wrong. The latest is going away with her boy friend and another couple for a weekend. The other boy's people own a cabin on a lake and the story is that the four of them will clean it up after the winter. They will be alone.

ANSWER: And you're scared that she'll make the talk real. You're scared she'll really go off for this weekend, leaving you and her father helpless to do anything about your conviction that she has done the wrong thing.

You would not be helpless. What you could do if it turned out that she meant what she said, is to make it clear that you meant what you said. You could follow her to this cabin, collect her and bring her home. If you met more resistance than you could personally handle, you could get a police officer to add force to your conviction that this weekend is the wrong adventure for a 16-year-old girl.

But I advise you to do none of these things. You couldn't bring them off. You are so suspicious of what you claim to believe is right that any of these follow-through actions would come out defensive. You would be so abusive and accusing that your child would instantly spot your uncertainty. So she would start exposing herself to riskier and riskier experiences in order to express her contempt for you.

The young are not so "bull-headed" as they are contemptuous. Contemptuous of the sloppiness of grownup conviction; the whole flabby wobble of the adult moral structure. They listen to our sermons on the obligation to do "the right thing" — and then watch us collapse like rag dolls when the talk demands translation into action. The resulting feeling of the young is:

"If these grownups love their views of rightness so much that they can't stop talking about them, why don't they act on them? If their rightness isn't good enough for them, why should we have to act on it? Man, can they yak!"

I don't know why your child should honor your moral view about this weekend if you aren't willing to fight for it.

We the Women

Hand's-off, Mother-in-law

by Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"My son's wife," writes a mother-in-law, "always wants to be on the go. She leaves my granddaughter with anyone who will mind her while she goes out during the day with her friends. She neglects her house, too, and it's a mess."

"When I told my son he ought to put his foot down, he just laughed and said he wasn't complaining. So far as he's concerned she can do no wrong."

Then what are you worrying about? It's really not your concern, you know.

Recall: your grandchild is another woman's daughter, and she has a right to decide how the child will be brought up.

Also, your son is another woman's husband, and if he is satisfied with his marriage, that is all that is necessary. If his wife can do no wrong so far as he is concerned, there is no point in your finding fault with her.

You may be perfectly right in thinking that your son's wife goes out too much, isn't as good a cook or housekeeper as she might be, and so on.

But make it a private opinion. Don't point out her flaws to your son, or let her know that you disapprove of her.

You can cause nothing but trouble by trying to interfere in your son's marriage.

Stick to a hands-off policy, and the very things you think should be corrected may be corrected in time.

Whatever happens, remember it's your son's life. It's up to him, not you, to take care of his wife and his child.

brought her sweater to the meeting.

"That's a pretty sweater," said the woman in front of her who had turned around to talk and noticed it.

"Yes," the woman with the sweater beamed, "I made it, and I'm so proud of it. That's the reason I brought it."

"To show it off," somebody commented, "if it had been 103 in the shade she would have still brought it." — H. L.

Value of Memory Improves With Age

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory is one thing in life that increases in value as you get older.

The more you have to remember the richer you are, and the longer you live the more worthwhile things you have to recall—if you've had any luck at all.

You've had your fair share of nostalgia if you can look back and remember when —

Small Steel Industries Claim Credit for New Move

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—American steelmasters, converging on New York today for their annual meeting, are comparing notes on the fast change-over to new techniques now under way.

Some of the smaller companies are claiming credit for leading the move to catch up with steel-makers abroad.

Beyond that, delegates to the American Iron & Steel Institute meeting are being told to "anticipate major changes in metallurgical education and laboratory research" with whole new industries to "emerge out of the new scientific developments."

The here-and-now changes are coming fast, if belatedly. Continuous casting units are the latest, touted as saving from $3 to $12 a ton by skipping steps in the older process. This trend follows closely on the switch to oxygen furnaces, which can cut $2 to $8 a ton from costs of production from the standard open hearths.

Continuous casting was first used in the European Common Market, Japan and Russia. Recently it was taken up here by some small steel companies. And now many of the biggest Medicine, if it was to do you any real good, had to taste bad—and it usually was colored dark brown.

Golf and tennis were both regarded as sissy games played largely by well-to-do people who weren't physically up to the wear and tear of body contact sports.

Hospitals were feared by most persons. They were regarded as places where you went to die rather than to get well.
